

Carriage Chips and Chatter

CARTHAGE, N. M., Nov. 8, 1891.
Editors of the Old Abe Eagle.

Messrs:—Opportunities are so rare for us to see or hear anything of our quiet camp, in public print, that we avail ourselves of your offer at the earliest possible moment. Taking it for granted that the majority of your readers are acquainted with the location and history of our camp, we will only speak of it as it is to-day. And as we are only a coal mining camp it can hardly be expected that we can write up the history of political celebrities or persons of note as being located amongst us, but of a hard working, quiet set of miners made up of Mexicans and Italians with a sprinkling of English speaking people, a majority of which hail from Bonnie Scotland. Quite a number of our people of late have been moving away to Gallup, following the fortunes of a former Superintendent, a Mr. James. Our station Agent, Mr. Palmer, and his assistant Foley are kept almost too busy to add to the social conditions of our society. Foley, however, manages to break out of labor's chains occasionally, and shows up in all his brilliancy. Sergeant Pool, the representative of Uncle Sam in the Signal Service at this point manages to turn the tide of rain and wind storms along the valley of the Rio Grande in a manner that assures us of fine weather at all times. And only once since I came here has he failed, and on that night he must have dropped asleep and left his key open, as it seemed as if nature had combined to punish him for any delays he had caused in the past.

Our camp physician, Dr. Wright, is another busy man and as he whirls by our doors mounted on his cream colored steed we are reminded that another accident has occurred in the mines, or some Mexican child has a turn of the colic.

Our worthy landlord, Mr. McKinley, whilst a merriment his labors have in no way detracted from his hospitality, and all who stop with him speak highly of their entertainment.

We have a branch store of Gross Blackwell & Co. presided over by a genial Scot Donald Stuart and a cashier, James Simley, who hails from the sunny South, having first seen the light in Old Virginia; he is a genial society man. Wm. Drummond, the young billing clerk, is kept busy looking after the shipping interests of the firm, but finds time to play the accordion to some of the fair damsels of the camp. Mr. Hawthorne, the Superintendent of the mines, is wholly engrossed in the interests of the company and finds no time to appear in society. His chief clerk, Mr. John T. Howe, is our most noted society man, in fact, is the leader in most of our social gatherings.

Wm. Pratt, the store keeper at the mines and also in company with Mr. Palmer, are the owners of the butcher shop. He is a gay young Canadian and whilst paying a strict attention to business finds abundance of time to pay attention to the fair sex, and with the exception of an occasional accident, such as runaways and so forth, everything seems to go on swimmingly with him. They have a young clerk in the shops E. Braskit. He seems, however, to take more to the banks of the muddy Rio Grande or some of the inhabitants living thereon, as I can hardly believe that his frequent trips to the valley are all for business.

There are numerous other of our inhabitants worthy of mention here, fearing, however, that I might draw this article out too long for convenience, I will speak of other than private citizens. We have two public, English and Spanish, schools, and one private school where only Spanish is taught. The company erected a large and imposing school house, with a bell overhead for public use. We have a Knights of "The Lodge in a flourishing condition.

Preliminary meetings have been held by the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association, but owing to some difficulty in the selection of officers but little has as yet been accomplished. Another drawback seems to be over the place where the meetings are to be held. Some of our citizens are objecting to the place where the preliminary meetings have been held so far, and unless a place can be patched up between the factions I fear naught will come of it. As to the resources and expenditures of our mines I can only give you such information as I can gather from day to day as I see it, as the product and expenditures are wholly governed by the head officials at Topeka, Kansas. The production of the two mines at this writing is about two hundred tons per day, all of which is shipped from here to El Paso for use of the Mexican Central Ry. This gives employment to about one hundred and fifty men. The water used for steam purposes at the mine and also for domestic use of the camp, is hauled here from a well at San Antonio, by car loads, the usual supply being about eight car loads per day. The water pumped from the mines is too strongly impregnated with alkali for either steam or domestic purposes. The greedy animals, however, which roam over the mountains drink it and seem to thrive on it. We have two trains per day each way, (except Sunday when there is but one) running up here from San Antonio. Our mail, however, is brought to us, as yet, the old primitive way, by stage coach.

We are living in hopes that, ere long, we shall be connected with your thriving town by rail, and that better facilities will be afforded us for mail and travel. Wishing you success in your undertaking, and at any time should you desire any news that I can contribute from our prosy camp, I will cheerfully do so.

"EAGLE."

T. STANTON NOTES.

Port Stanton is situated on the east bank of the Rio Bonito, 121 miles from Carthage, N. M., 35 miles from White Oaks, 18 miles from Nogal, 9 miles from Lincoln and 65 miles from Roswell.

The Post was established in 1857, the site being selected by General Alexander McD. McCook, the present popular department commander. For many years the Mesquero Indian Reservation embraced the whole surrounding country, and Fort Stanton was the residence of the Indian agent as well as the Military headquarters. The present post trader's store was originally an Indian trading store, but those who served here in the sixties would hardly recognize the old fort of those days, so material have been the changes of the last decade.

A complete system of waterworks was put in in 1885 under the direction of Lieutenant (now Capt.) G. L. Scott, Quartermaster, and the sewerage system was added in 1887. The water supply is obtained from a well about 50 yards from the river bank, but to avoid the overflow which occurs almost every year, a new well is being dug about 100 yards from the river bank. An ice machine was put in the past summer, thus ensuring a lasting supply of pure ice at a nominal cost to the government.

The Post is the head quarters of the 10th U. S. Infantry, the officers of the garrison being as follows:

Col. E. H. Pierson, Col. 10th Infantry, commanding.

Staff—First Lieut. I. W. Littell, 10th Infantry, regimental adjutant.

First Lieut. E. H. Plummer, 10th Infantry, regimental quartermaster.

Post Chaplain, Rev. Chas. E. Pearson, chaplain, now absent on leave.

First Lieut. N. S. Jarvis, A. S. post surgeon.

The field officers are as follows:

Capt. I. N. Wheeler, 24 U. S. Cavalry, commanding troop G, 2d Cavalry.

First Lieut. F. D. Rucker.

Second Lieut. D. L. Brinard.

Capt. S. H. Lincoln, commanding Company E, 10 U. S. Infantry.

First Lieut. Bogardus Eldridge, 10th Infantry.

Capt. I. T. Kirkman (east on leave of absence) commanding Company B, 10th Infantry. First Lieut. Henry Kirby, 10th Infantry; Second Lieut. A. W. Brewster, 10th Infantry; First Lieut. William Paulding, 10th Infantry.

The non-commissioned staff consists of Sergeant Major James Ryanne, Drum Major J. H. Crump, Commissary Sergeant Adolph Samler, Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant William Walther, Post Quartermaster Sergeant William Arnold, Band Leader, Frederick Crutsberg, Hospital Steward, Frederick Schumacher.

The total strength of the garrison may be estimated at about 210 men, distributed about as follows:

Band 10th U. S. Infantry, 21 men.

Troop G, 2d U. S. Cavalry, 53 men.

Company E, 10th U. S. Infantry, 64 men.

Company B, 10th U. S. Infantry, 67 men.

The various divisions of the Quartermaster's department are under the control of the following civilian employees:

Blacksmith and farrier, J. N. Bailey; engineer and machinist, Chas. J. Steen; wheelwright and carpenter, James A. Murray.

A description of Fort Stanton would be incomplete without mentioning the Post Trader's establishment of Messrs. DeLaney & Vail. I have been informed that these gentlemen will soon arrange their mutual differences, and the "Trader's Store" will soon be going full blast again. At present, S. R. Corbett, Esq., is filling the dual part of bookkeeper and clerk, while the P. O. department is held down by John H. Canning. The office of the U. S. Signal Service and U. S. Weather Bureau are at present located in the Post Trader's building, and that efficient public servant, Sergeant W. O. Bailey, is always to be found at his post.

The sale of Captain Kirkman's household goods took place Saturday, and was attended by quite a number of buyers from Lincoln, White Oaks, Nogal, and Pecos. Our old friend, J. P. C. Langston and Uncle John Brothers were among the White Oaks delegates. Paymaster A. S. Towne arrived here late on Saturday evening and distributed about $6,000 in crisp bank notes among the boys on Sunday morning. The Mafor left again for the railroad Monday morning. He hopes ere long to take the car to White Oaks, and thus avoid the long drive from here to Carthage. Have patience, Major, and you will soon ride to White Oaks on a Pullman.

Frank Bonnett and George Moore of Nogal, W. B. Ellis and Wm. Needham of Lincoln, spent a few days at the Post this week.

Scipio Salazar, County Treasurer, and Buck Guyse of Pecos, attended the Kirkman sale, and bought quite a quantity of furniture, etc.

J. C. D. Lang, S. T. Gray and Jas. J. Dolan visited the Hondo Ranch on Monday last. They report a big crop of alfalfa, and the imported stock of Messrs. De Laney and Vail are doing well.

Lieut. Alb. Brewster left here on the 11th for Fort Grant, Arizona, to be examined for promotion to first lieutenant. Lt. Brewster is one of the most popular officers at this post, and we all will be glad to hear of his promotion.

Lieut. F. D. Rucker, 3d Cav., has been granted a leave of absence for six months and will leave here in a few days for St. Louis, Washington and other points east.

Post Quartermaster Sergeant Wm. Arnold has been ordered to appear as a witness before the U. S. Court at St. Louis, after which the Sergeant will take six months' furlough.

First Lieut. S. Y. Seyburn has been ordered before an examining board at Fort Wayne, Michigan, for promotion to captaincy. Lieut. Seyburn has been, until recently, Regimental Adjutant of the 10th Infantry at this post.

Major J. S. C. Lee, Chief Quartermaster Department of Arizona, accompanied by Lieut. Charles L. Collins, Inspector of Small Arms practice, arrived here Wednesday on a tour of inspection. Major Lee was well pleased with the general condition of the post, and in company with Lieut. E. S. Plummer, inspected the various barracks of the Quartermaster's Department on Thursday.

Lieut. Collins visited the rifle ranges, in company with Lieut. D. L. Brinard. Both gentlemen left on Friday morning for Los Angeles, Department Headquarters.

Pending the arrival of Col. E. H. Pierson, the Post is commanded by Col. J. N. Wheeler, 2d Cavalry.

Lieut. Wm. Paulding left for Carthage Friday morning to meet his family who are en route from New York via Galveston, Texas.

Col. E. H. Pierson and family arrived Thursday evening and he assumed command of the Regiment Friday morning.

Mrs. Adolph Semler, wife of our efficient Commissary Sergeant, has been quite ill the past week. We are happy to report a marked improvement in the lady's condition at time of writing.

Married, at Lincoln, N. M., Nov. 5th by the Hon. Michael Cronin, Probate Judge of Lincoln county, First Sergeant William Shover, Company B, 10th U. S. Infantry, to Miss Justine Goudreau, of Detroit, Michigan. Mrs. Shover left for Detroit on the stage Wednesday morning, where the Sergeant will join her at an early date.

The correspondent of "The Evans," wishes the young couple many years of married bliss and hopes all their troubles may be "little ones."

W. W. Paul, a prominent ranchman of the Pecos country, arrived here Friday evening with a large load of oats to be delivered on contract of S. B. Corbett.

James and Joe Halebury, from Hondo Ranch, spent the day at the Post. They brought two large loads of beef alfalfa for Receiver Dolan.

VERITAS.

INCOLN LACONICS.

LINCOLN, N. M., Nov. 14, 1891.

DEAR EDITOR:—I hear with pleasure that you will soon commence your new paper, "The Old Abe Eagle" and hope that "The Old Abe Eagle" will be as successful as its namesake, the "Old Abe Mine," and turn out treasures in literature and good news to its readers, as the "Old Abe Mine" is turning out treasures in gold.

Do you wish me to write to you something about Lincoln? I would at first mention for the benefit of such of your readers, who have not yet visited our burg, that Lincoln is the county seat of Lincoln county and is situated in the beautiful "Bonito Valley," in a southeasterly direction and about 40 miles from White Oaks.

The valley is called after the Bonito river, (Pretty river), which comes from the Sierra Blanca and in its course passes by Fort Stanton, where it flows by beautiful meadows, forming the military reservation. The actual beauty of the valley begins about four miles below the Post, where the Captain maintains a rise on both sides of the river and in the west loom up the White mountains with their snow-covered peaks.

Here, the sparkling waters of the Bonito traverse the most beautiful scenery, fields and meadows interchanging with grand forest and mountain scenery. Forming eddies and whirlpools below overhanging rocks and trees, the Bonito waters plunge on in their impetuous course, often dividing themselves into serpentine lines and aqueducts, traversing the valley and bringing blessings to its inhabitants.

Lincoln is situated nine miles from Fort Stanton, in an opening of the valley and surrounded and protected by the heights of the Captain mountains from all cold winds coming from the north and west.

The altitude of Lincoln has been estimated as being 5700 feet above the level of the sea, and being so well protected, it has a beautiful mild climate, and in fact compares favorably, as far as scenery and climate are concerned, with many of the most celebrated health resorts in this country and in Europe.

Lincoln has a court house, two hotels, several stores and some quaint old Mexican buildings, relics of the time when the inhabitants of this peaceful village were often molested by Indians. There are the ruins of a tower, which was built some thirty years ago by Enriquez Truxillo. It was formerly three stories high, and often the citizens of the place, which was then called "Rio Bonito," had to seek refuge within its walls, to protect themselves against the depredations of the wild Apaches.

Now, only peaceful Indians, from the Mesquero agency, (about 40 miles distant to the southwest), are seen here at intervals, trading their ingeniously manufactured wares, deerkins, herbs, roots, &c., for the luxuries of civilization.

We also have a Knights of Pythias Lodge which holds its meetings twice a month on Saturday nights, when the members, who are all dispersed over our neighborhood, have a friendly gathering at their castle hall and many are the banquets and dances held within their hospitable walls or in the large hall of the Lincoln court house.

Lincoln is a sociable place and one of the great resources of the neighborhood. Visitors are constantly here, from near and far, as it is a health resort especially beneficial for those whose lungs are affected, as the rarefied air of our altitude in connection with the beautiful climate has proven to be a great cure for lung diseases, and many who have come here from the big cities in the east have been healed and benefitted by sojourning in our even climate, where the winters are not severe, and the nights in summer cool enough to make a good bed covering very acceptable.

Lincoln is also a good country for fruit-growing. The finest grapes, pears, apricots, peaches and apples and all kinds of small fruit are grown here in splendid variety and of large size and exquisite taste. Fields and trees can be watered by aqueducts and never-failing springs.

$300 REWARD

FOR ONE THIEVES!

The common experience of this camp shows that much is lost by the mine operators by the stealing of gold in specimens, if not in a amalgam and bullion. Therefore the "Old Abe" Co. offers a standing reward of Three Hundred Dollars for the arrest and conviction, or for information leading to the arrest and conviction of any person guilty of stealing any of the property of the Old Abe Co., even the smallest specimen of ore. The rule of this company is to mill all specimens. Therefore none of the ore from this mine can be honestly held as specimens. And as the receiver, with guilty knowledge, is as guilty in law as the thief, this offer applies to the holders of Old Abe specimens.
